

APPELLATION
OYSTERS

Australia's Oyster Coast (AOC) was established in 2015 by a group of progressive Australian oyster farmers. The intention in establishing Australia's Oyster Coast was to unite this group of passionate, environmentally conscious farmers under one brand and take their commitment to premium quality oysters to the market. Australia's Oyster Coast is now the world's largest producer of food grade Sydney Rock Oysters and Australia's largest oyster processor.

ABOUT AUSTRALIA'S OYSTER COAST

Australia's Oyster Coast is Australia's largest food grade Rock Oyster producer. From working directly with farmers, as well as farming ourselves, to building relationships with wholesalers and retailers including chefs who serve our oysters at Australia's finest restaurants and everyone in between, we are passionate about supplying the best possible oysters to the Australian market and select export markets.

a vertically integrated business, we ensure the highest standards from farm to fork selling oysters. Oysters have many reasons to be celebrated, from their environmentally friendly benefits as one of the most sustainable farming industries in the world, to their impressive health benefits, rich nutrients and vitamins and bringing people together over food - to their amazing merroir, flavour diversity and culinary experience.

SOURCING

We operate seven oyster farms located in NSW and we source from independent farmers across 20 NSW estuaries as well as from Tasmania and South Australia.

SUSTAINABILITY

Environmental sustainability forms the foundation of the entire Australia's Oyster Coast industry and brand. We operate under estuary-wide oyster Environmental Management Systems to increase industry sustainability and profitability. Actions vary from upgrading to more environmentally friendly infrastructure, to raising awareness of catchment issues in local communities.

ELEVATE YOUR OYSTER EXPERIENCE

Appellation Oysters is a rigorous program for the identification and selection of the best quality oysters from the 14 NSW estuaries under the AOC umbrella. Only the very best oyster is awarded Appellation status. Selection begins at the farm prior to harvest. The harvested oysters are packed in sealed bags marked with their estuary of origin to guarantee authenticity and avoid the possibility of substitution. The bags are transported to the AOC facility where they undergo a second inspection for quality and grade. Every oyster is scrutinised and graded by AOC's Oyster Sommelier and his experienced team. Each oyster is then carefully washed and boxed with their estuary tasting notes. The boxes are sealed and marked again with their estuary of origin ensuring a quality guarantee for every box of Appellation oysters.

MERROIR - A TASTE OF PLACE

The wine industry has a unique word for the special alchemy that occurs when environmental factors, farming practices, the attributes of land and soils from a specific place combine to create the flavour profile of a wine. That word is terroir. Like the wine industry, the oyster industry works to a merroir system which similarly distinguishes the flavours and textures of an oyster based on its marine environment as well as the farming and harvesting practices of the estuary in which it is grown. When embarking on an oyster gastro-journey, you are travelling through the oyster's marine environment and the nuanced flavour profile of each oyster is an expression of its particular place of origin.
